

From the Texas Right to Life

Pro-Life Update

November 2006

A recent CNN poll confirms this appraisal: released in September, the poll showed that 45% of Americans would support a state law banning all abortions except those necessary to save the life of the mother (while 51% did not support the ban). Even more interesting, the same poll revealed how many Americans think that abortion should be legal under any circumstances (24%), legal only under certain circumstances (50%), or illegal in all circumstances (24%). Past polls with more direct questions have found that those who think abortion should be legal only sometimes means that they support abortion only in cases of rape, incest, or to save the life of the mother. These "exceptions" only account for about 7% of all abortions. Thus, this CNN poll essentially states that 74% of Americans think abortion should be illegal at least 93% of the time. The culture of death is clearly losing ground.

The Pro-Life movement still has much work to ensure that all people throughout the world are welcomed into Life and respected. If you would like any additional information on the topics discussed above, please send me a note or log onto www.TexasRightToLife.com. If you ever have questions about any Pro-Life issues, please be sure to let me know.

Yours for Life,

Dr. Joseph M. Graham
President

Rose Anne's opinion:

Looks like most people understand the difference between good and evil! Why does the PRO-CHOICE bunch receive so much perceived credibility? Could it be that the abortion industry is a money maker and organizations such as Planned Parenthood whitewash their "service" to the poor? Could it be that angry women defend their freedom to choose out of guilt? Our culture is diminished when we CHOOSE not to defend the helpless. How obvious is that????